

Case Study

Nightingale Way Play Area, Higham Ferrers

A brand-new play area partly funded by developers' contributions

Inclusive and usable facility for all

The new playground caters for different age groups, with toddler units including a UniPlay multi-play structure and springers suitable for younger children, and more challenging play equipment for older children.

By offering various play opportunities and varying degrees of challenges, the play area provides cooperative play opportunities and allows children of differing abilities to engage with the space in their own way.

Plenty of seating options were also provided for parents and carers.

A sense of adventure and intrigue

The free-flowing space encourages children to explore the play area and engage in a variety of play activities. The architectural design of the Nexus and DNA climber will immediately spark the interest of older children.

A design that enhances the existing landscape

Owing to the contemporary look of our steel play units and a coherent colour scheme, the play area blends in with the surrounding environment.

A modern, stimulating and inspiring space that offers exceptional value for money

Our play specialists were tasked with designing an affordable solution offering high play value. They've achieved this through a well thought out layout optimising the space and a great selection of equipment.

We are immensely proud at what we contributed to the entire community. Everyone is delighted with the final results and the play park has been enjoyed by many children already. A representative from the Town Council said "Yesterday we officially opened the new Nightingale Way Play Area in High Ferrers. Thanks to everyone who came down and enjoyed soft drinks, toys and sweets courtesy of HAGS UK and got to test out the fantastic new play equipment! We hope this will provide a safe and fun place for children to play for years to come."
