

Case Study

The Meadow, Bishop's Tachbrook Parish Council

With huge numbers of new houses being built in the parish, this playground in Bishop's Tachbrook has created a fantastic community hub in the heart of the village.

An impressive play area for a growing Parish

Bishop's Tachbrook is a growing parish with huge numbers of houses being built in the local area. The new development, Oakley Meadow, has footpath links to the older part of the village past the Meadow, so the decision was made to renew and replace the existing equipment and flooring, at the heart of the parish.

Children as the Key Decision- Makers

After researching providers, the playground committee (supported by children from the village, who were some of the key decision-makers!) chose HAGS as we were able to offer the complete package within their budget. They were also impressed by HAGS' understanding of the project, responsiveness, pragmatism and willingness to find the right solution for them.

A great experience throughout

Jenny Bevan, Chair of the Playground Committee was delighted by the service received from Jilly, Area Sales Manager, who worked closely with the Parish Council to translate their ideas into practical plans. "Jilly was very keen to work to our budget and was very reasonable in her approach to making it go as far as it could. The quality of the work, the speed of the work, the communication about the work and the overall results of the work were fantastic and we couldn't have asked for a better contractor."
