

Case Study

St Ronan's Primary School – Scottish Borders

Project Background

Due to a nursery extension being built onto the Primary school, the existing play park had to be removed, and was unsuitable for relocation.

Suitable for children up to 11 years old the new play area had to be engaging, educational and fit in with the stunning landscape and vista around the school, nestled in the Moorfoot Hills. The play area was installed into the rear of the school, accessible by the community and the school children, a toddler area and junior area were put in place. Replicating the natural greens and browns of the land, the new park fits in perfectly with the surroundings. Educational play panels and a trim trail makes this a perfect play park for all the children in the community!

Project value: £35,000
